

Domaine Jeannot, a family story Born and bred in Burgundy, Valérie and Philippe started cultivating a few plots in 1997. In 1999, they decided to found the estate after acquiring more plots and experience.

Years of relentless work resulted in their owning 11 hectares of vineyards. In 2014, Quentin came back to the estate after finishing his studies at the Davayé winemaking school, near Mâcon. After learning the trade on the job with his parents, school gave him the opportunity to diversify his experience and perfect his skills. Transmitted from generation to generation. Passionate, determined and hard-working: Valérie and Philippe built the estate driven by their love of vines. From day one, they have been looking for precision and excellence, by constantly challenging themselves. The estate now comprises of 11 hectares of vineyards on the Côte de Beaune.
